ABSTRACT

A program description and two booklets provide information about the May 1980 Schoolympics Games held at Burlingame Intermediate School (California). The description of the 10-day, schoolwide event includes: (1) the use of all areas of the curriculum in the competitive events; (2) the involvement of students, staff, parents, and community; (3) the selection and study of a country by each homeroom; (4) the opening day ceremonies; and (5) the special assembly for the awarding of medals. The booklets, providing information about the planning and organization of the event, contain goals and objectives; lists of participants, contests, and the country represented; the schedule of events; the opening day ceremonies; Schoolympic general rules; and descriptions of each contest including its requirements, rules, and the officials needed. Some of the competitive events are mathematics contests, a spelling marathon, a tug of war, track and field events, and gymnastics competitions. This document was selected by the Association of California School Administrators (ACSA) Task Force on Public Confidence as descriptive of a promising practice or exemplary project worthy of highlighting for the California educational community. In May of 1980, Burlingame Intermediate School held its first Schoolympics Games, a school-wide event that involved all curricular areas and related them to the traditional Olympic Games. Staff members, students, and parents are currently planning the second B.I.S. Schoolympics Games, which will take place in May of 1984.

The objective of this highly integrated program is to allow students to compete in academic and arts areas as well as in physical education contests thus, adding strength and reinforcement to our curricular offerings.

The teachers report that this program has had an enormous impact on the students at Burlingame Intermediate School. The built-in motivational aspects of the Schoolympics has students eager to study subjects in which they might otherwise not be interested.

This novel and creative program involves virtually every student and staff member at Burlingame Intermediate School. In addition to the students and the staff, the community contributes to the success of the Games. Parents help supervise and judge events, local businesses and service clubs offer financial support, and television stations and newspapers provide coverage of the Games.

As in the first Games, each homeroom class has selected a country to represent. During the year, the class will study that country in depth, and learn about its geography, history, politics, economy and culture. Each class will display flags of its adopted country, and a student-designed logo will appear on programs and T-shirts. Every department in the school will conduct one or more competitive activities in its subject area. Contests in the 1980 Games ranged from a Kitchen Relay to a Metric Treasure Hunt.

The Opening Day ceremonies will begin with the carrying of a torch by several runners from City Hall, past each elementary school, to Intermediate School. As the school band plays the traditional Olympics music, each class will march onto the athletic field and the Games will begin. Every student will participate in the Games and will receive a commemorative concept by

Jenny Sullivan

Welcome students, parents, teachers and members of the community to the first Burlingame Schoolympic Games.

The Schoolympic Games is a product of many months of organizing and planning. We are extremely grateful to those teachers and parents who have contributed time and effort into putting this event together.

The idea of the Schoolympic Games originated about two years ago, and at that time we planned to include track and field events only. As we began to formulate plans this year, new ideas were constantly being suggested by our committee. We soon realized that the Schoolympic Games could apply to all areas of the school curriculum. And so, from a small idea, we came to this vast undertaking of a ten-day event: the first B.I.S. Schoolympic Games.

The Schoolympic Games provides an opportunity for all the students at B.I.S. to engage in competition in areas of their specialties and a chance for them to display their skills. It also provides the teachers with ways of relating their subject matter to the traditional Olympic Games.

We hope everyone enjoys the Schoolympic Games. To all competitors--good luck--and remember to always uphold the principles of the Olympic Creed.
